Annual subscription rates 1984 (quarterly) including postage and insurance: For libraries, university departments, government laboratories, industrial and other multiple-reader institutions: US$200.00, US$380.00 for two years (1984/85). Specially reduced rates to individuals: In the interests of maximising the dissemination of the research results published in this journal, we have established a three-tier price structure. Any individual whose institution takes out a library subscription may purchase a second or additional subscription for personal use at a much reduced rate of US$20.00. This reduced price also applies to members of national organisations, adhering to WERC. Developing Countries (Africa, Asia and Latin-America): $67.50 per annum. Individuals' special reduced rate: $20.00.
All subscription enquiries should be addressed to: the Subscription Fulfillment Manager, Pergamon Press Ltd., Headington Hill Hall, Oxford OX3 0BW, UK.

Microform Subscriptions and Back Issues: Back issues of all previously published volumes are available in the regular editions and on microfilm and microfiche. Current subscriptions are available on microfiche simultaneously with the paper edition and on microfilm on completion of the annual index at the end of the subscription year.

Instructions to Contributors

1. Manuscripts in general should be written in English. The Editors may on occasion consider articles in French, German or Spanish for translation and publication, but in such cases an English summary would be greatly appreciated. Two copies of any article should be submitted. These should be typed, on one side of the paper only. The author(s) should retain a copy.

2. Articles should include the author's name and affiliation.

3. Authors are responsible both for the views expressed in their articles and for the accuracy of any data quoted. Where they are associated with any organisation or institution, it should be made clear whether or not the views are thus representative. In this context, attention is drawn to the editorial disclaimers on the front page of this journal.

4. Broad divisions and section headings should be clearly marked in the text where appropriate. Any quotations should appear in single marks, with longer quotations (exceeding 40 words) appearing indented in the text.

5. Bibliographical references should be carefully checked. In the case of books these should be complete in respect of edition, place and date of publication, and name of publisher; and in the case of journal articles (where given), volume and issue number, month and year, and inclusive page numbers. References to privately circulated or mimeographed material should also contain the name of the appropriate department or institution concerned. Reference example: Laconte P. et al. (Editors) (1976) The Environment of Human Settlements. Vol. 1. Pergamon Press. Oxford.

6. Illustrations. All necessary illustrations should accompany the typescript but should not be inserted in the text. All photographs, maps, charts and diagrams should be referred to as "Figures", and should be numbered consecutively in the order in which they are referred to in the text. Brief captions should be provided to make the figures as informative as possible. Where shading is required in illustrations, line hatching should be used, as tone or dots may not reproduce clearly.

(a) Photographs should be black and white glossy prints. Each should have lightly written on the back, the author's name, the figure number, and an indication of which is the top of the picture.
Where lines or lettering are to appear on the photograph, two prints should be supplied, one appropriately marked and the other unmarked.

(b) Line diagrams should preferably be submitted in a form suitable for direct reproduction.

(c) Captions to figures should be typed consecutively on a separate page at the end of the paper. Each caption must give the figure number.

7. The Publisher will seek to return all original artwork in good condition, but cannot guarantee this arrangement. Authors are therefore recommended to ensure that they retain good copies of any illustrative material.

8. Statistical tables should be submitted on separate sheets. These should be clearly headed and the reader should be able to understand the meaning of each row or column without hunting in the text for explanations of symbols, etc. Units of measurement, nationality of currencies, base-dates for index numbers, geographical area covered and sources should be clearly stated.

9. All Figures and Tables should be referred to directly in the text. Authors may indicate preferred positions in relation to text and, where practicable, these will be adhered to.

10. All footnotes, including authors' acknowledgements, etc. should be submitted on a separate sheet. These will appear at the foot of each relevant page but should be numbered consecutively throughout.

11. Authors are expected to correct proofs expeditiously and to keep alterations to a minimum. If corrected proofs are not returned within a reasonable time of despatch, the Editors and Publishers reserve the right to make final checks themselves and to proceed with publication. In general, the author's original typescript will be regarded as definitive, except where matters of Journal style or necessary correction of syntax etc have required editorial intervention. The Publisher reserves the right to charge authors for excessive and unreasonable corrections made in proof.

12. Because of the heavy pressure on space, the Editor will give preference to articles which deal succinctly with an issue which is both important and clearly defined. In general, articles should not exceed 6,000 words unless there is special justification.

13. Twenty-five reprints are provided free of charge. Further copies may be purchased at a reasonable price if ordered on the form which will accompany the author's proofs.

Correspondence

The Editors welcome correspondence on articles published in the Journal. Where possible, letters received about specific articles will be copied to the original author for reply, in order that both sides may then be published together.

Copyright Information

By submitting a manuscript, the authors agree that the copyright for their article is transferred to the Publisher, if and when the article is accepted for publication. However, assignment of copyright is not required from authors who work for organisations which do not permit such assignment. The copyright covers the exclusive rights to reproduce and distribute the article, including reprints, photographic reproductions, microform or any other reproductions of similar nature and translations. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, electrostatic, magnetic tape, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise, without the permission in writing from the copyright holder.

Photocopying Information for Users in the USA: The Item-Fee Code for this publication indicates that authorisation to photocopy items for internal or personal use is granted by the copyright holder for libraries and other users registered with the Copyright Clearance Center (CCC) Transactional Reporting Service provided the stated fee for copying beyond that permitted by Section 107 or 108 of the United States Copyright Law is paid.
